

1968

CAPITAL

2008

A weekend of Marxist discussion, argument and education organised by

Friday 27 – Sunday 29 June
University of London Union
Malet Street, London WC1

www.permanentrevolution.net

A quarterly review of revolutionary politics and theory

1968 was a pivotal moment for the international left. Are the lessons of that year's turbulent events still relevant to the debates of today? Come along and take part in a weekend of lively and challenging discussion. Sessions include:

1968 – year of revolution:
Paris '68 rebellion and poster art

Feminism and socialism 1968 to today:
debate with Feminist Fightback

Red Pepper and John McDonnell: do political parties have a future?

Workers' struggles in Venezuela:
eyewitness report on recent events

Obama vs Clinton: should we care?

“Live working or die fighting” ... in China:
Paul Mason speaks on his book

Credit crunch: world recession '30s style?

Climate change: Plane Stupid and Roy Wilkes discuss what kind of activism?

And much more. See website for full programme and booking details

www.permanentrevolution.net
contact@permanentrevolution.net